

PITFALLS & REMEDIES IN INTERNATIONAL TRADE

37th Annual Practical Course on International Trading Problems
5 October — 10 October 2025,
Macdonald Berystede Hotel & Spa, Ascot, Berkshire

International trading is highly competitive. Margins have traditionally been small and the risks relatively high. The risk/return equation for the international trader has been upset. To retain profitability it is vital that those involved should be fully aware of the new pitfalls confronting them and the means by which they can be avoided.

The course aims to cover these areas.

COURSE OVERVIEW

COURSE AIMS & BENEFITS

The IMB Trading Course is in its 37th year, widely acknowledged for its unique and practical approach in identifying and tackling potential pitfalls faced by those involved in international trade.

This intensive course has established itself as an essential date in the calendar of those responsible for managing and avoiding risk in today's trading environment.

Delegates will acquire an understanding of international trading problems including financing, insurance and shipping contracts. Recent developments will be analysed including a detailed examination of the manipulation of the documentary credit system, fraud and financial crime in trade finance, charterparty failure and cargo abandonment at intermediate ports.

Heavily based on real-life case studies, the course draws on the considerable expertise of the IMB in preventing international trading problems. A Certificate of Qualification will be awarded at the conclusion of the course.

WHY ATTEND THE COURSE?

- The changing face of trade finance fraud. Are your due diligence measures effective?
- How can you reduce risk by negotiating effective contract terms?
- What are the major vulnerabilities in the transportation chain?
- Why do charterparties fail? What can be done to prevent charterparty breakdowns?
- What action do you take when your cargo and/or vessel does not arrive at the discharge port?
- Who do you turn to when problems arise?
- What are the legal remedies that are practical and available?

THE TRADING GAME

The greatest benefit is experience gained by participation in the Trading Game designed specifically for this course by the IMB. Participants will be divided into small teams and will apply the experience gained on the course to take decisions in a simulated international trading situation, fraught with more than the usual crop of problems and disputes.

About the International Maritime Bureau

The ICC International Maritime Bureau (IMB) was set up in January 1981 to act as a focal point for the industry in all matters relating to maritime fraud and malpractice. The activities of the IMB have since expanded to the resolution of contractual failures in shipping together with troubleshooting problems in international trade.

The IMB is a non-profit making division of the ICC and works closely with the International Maritime Organisation (IMO), United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) and other international organisations on matters connected with its specialist role in the industry.

“It is with great pleasure that I wish to commend to you the 36th Annual Trading Course on International Trading Problems. The experience of previous years has shown that the intensive practical nature of this course is both personally rewarding and commercially invaluable to all who attend.

We hope to have the pleasure of seeing you in Ascot, Berkshire in 2025.”
